

Washing your hands is the most important step to protect yourself from germs and viruses.